MAGICIANS' TRICKS.

MAKE-BELIEVE MIRACLES PERFORM ED BY MODERN MORTALS.

"Oriental Occultism" Easily Explained. The "Black Art" Is Very Simple When You Know flow. Magic art has undergone many remarkable transformations since Robert Houdin, the father of all modern magic, lived in Paris half a century ago. Perhaps no one could compare with him in celebrity, excepting the original Herrmann, who died at Carlsbad a couple of years ago, and from whom the Herrmann who at present perambulates America took his name and learned what he knows. The present Herrmann was known as Neuman, and was an assistant to his greater prototype. He was always remarkable for one thing, and that is his very great dexterity in sleight of hand tricks. To-day there is nobody that can compare with him in this line of work, what is known as palming. In fact anything that can be done with the hands alone, excepting a deaf mute who travels through the cheaper museums, and who is said to have even far greater ability in this line, but without the gift of express ing himself. THE FLYING BIRD CAGE.

Horrmann, however, has nover been an inventor. He finds his tricks ready made for him abroad and buys their so cret. As a result he is compelled to travel around with a vast paraphernalia that the old magicians would have looked upon with great contempt. In fact, the tendency of modern magic has been the elaboration of the cumbersome, and Herrmann needs a whole roomful of furniture to carry out one of his illusions.

The brightest mind in magic at the present day is a prestidigitateur named De Kolta. Ho holds forth in Paris, and, being almost a gentleman of leisure, only appears about three nights a week. He has made all the most important of mod-ern inventions in magic. The one that brought him first into prominence in the line of invention was the flying bird cage, which is now so familiar that it can be bought in magic stores for a few dollars, but it made a great sensation at the time. Kellar was the first to buy it from De Kolta, and took the trick to Australia, where he made some $20,000 out of it. He only paid $500. Two or three sensons ago in New York the Vanishing Lady was accepted as a very remarkable novelty. This was also an invention of De Kolta's. During the past year another of his Inventions, the Cocoon, has been given in New York both by Kellar and by Herrmann.

But the one that is now most fu niliar and surprising De Kolta first brought out two years ago. We have seen it with Herrmann under the name of Black Art, and with Kellar under the name of Oriental Occuitism. The trick is precisely the same with them both, and is merel an illusion of blackness. The whole stage is draped in the blackest of black; tho magician, be it Kellar or Herrmann is completely robed in white, so that he stands out clearly in the gloom surround ing him. Then he orders various objects to appear, a cup, a sword, a table,

MAGIC IS WARING, These things seem to suddenly start into being, and yet the device is of the simplest. The objects in question are concealed behind a black cloth until the order for them to appear is suddenly + BOSTON STORE. + given. The cloth concealing them is dropped, and they seem to have come out of chaos. In the same manuer Mrs. Herrmann or Mrs. Kellar stands on the stage draped in white, but bolding up a black cloth between herself and the audience. At the word of the me minushe drops the cloth and stands revaled. To the unimitiated the trick is most puzzling. It is the same way that the head detached from the trunk appears to be carried around the stage. The illusion is that the trunk is closed ... black, and standing against the blackness of the scene, cannot be distinguished; the head being winte, alone appears. This is perhaps the eleverest of all De Koltu's inhaps the creveress of the control of ventions.

Of mechanical tricks Maskelyne, of London, and Kellar are the most noted inventors. Psycho, or the hand that taps on a glass table in response to the madiginary to the highest and heat placed in the control of Kellar, and is simply a piece of very delimited to the control of Kellar, and is simply a piece of very delimited to the control of the co cato and intricate machinery. It is very similar to the Clio of Maskelyne, and both have a family resemblance to Kellar's chess board, originally invented by Maskelyne. Magicians generally give the palm to Kellar for all tricksof a 25c per yard. mathematical kind. He has a marvel-ously quick mind in this respect, and the most abstruso problems, he can solve in a few seconds—apparently, of course allowing it to be done by some mechanical figure.
Whether all this comes within the ex-Plaid and Moire Sash Ribbon * act domain of magic does not so much matter as that such tricks are now acconted in magical entertainments and vastly more enjoyed than the old pistel, card and rabbit tricks to which some magicians still adhere—tricks that necessitate the use of a confederate, and which are, therefore, of little account and at which even locals laugh,

The future of magic is hard to foretell. Everything in the sleight-of-hand way has become familiar, and outside of Do Kolta there is no inventor of anything new. The result is that recent prestidigitateurs, such as Herrmann, are compelled to add to their own some sort of variety entertalnment to fill out the Even Kellar had to go back to the old Indian basket trick for a nevelty. -New York Journal.

VIEWING THE TOWN.

Three Louisville Capitalists Pay Decatur a Visit.

Last night Benjamin Bayless, William 3. Barret and R. A. Robinson, jr., capitalists, of Louisville, Ky., arrived at the St. Nicholas hotel, guests of Manager E. J. Martin, of the Decatur Electric Railway company. The gentlemen breakfaster leisurely this morning, and afterwards in company with Mr. Martin were driven about the city in a carriage to view the inctories, the mines, the paved streets and other visible improvements. Their visit is purely one of business They have money to invest in any enterprise which will promise satisfactory re turns. They are very favorably impressed with Decatur, and freely confess that ou city is one of the most inviting points the West for safe investments. They are not yet willing to make an ositive statements as to their plans.

Centennial Celebration. There will be a union service of all the vangeheal churches in Decatur to ap ropriately commemorate the centennial f Washington's inauguration as pres dent. At a meeting of the ministers hold recently the following programme was decided upon, the services to be held in the First Baptist church at 10:30 a, m. on April 30th, and the singing to be by the choir of the Baptist church:

A Judicial Locture. A neighborhood and stone-throwing marrol was ventilated in Justice Cartis' onri this morning, Slate's Attorney Mills appearing for the people, The censed was Eddie Cam, son of Bridget Cam, and the complament was Mrs. Bell, mother of Daniel Bell, assaulted by Eddie with a brick. The parties reside nem the corner of Hickory and Calhoun stroots in the lifth word. Mrs. Bell is of German extraction and Mrs. Cain has the rich Irish brogue. The witnesses told a story of bickerings, stone throwing and frequent quarrots among the clubbren, entumnating in the row of yesterday, when Officer Butta swooped down on Eddin and brought him into court. Mills gave free rem to remarks by all the parties implicated and concluded that all were to blame. This view was ontertwo families a judicial lecture and told est popular successes of the season. cago & Eastern Himois railroad, gave the following explanation yesterday of the lightweight gold with which the employes ab Danville were pand for March:

By a clerical error at the First National and dates as follows: De Witt, Farmer Bank (of Chicago) a package of gold con-City, September 13 to 16; Chinton, Septhe exact amount - the pieces in which had been stamped "L," was turned over ber 3 to 6; Ford, Piper City, September to the paying teller instead of being sent to the Government Mint. The wrapper of the package was not marked to indicate to 13, Peoria, Peoria, state fair, September 10 to 15, Peoria, Peoria, Peoria, September 10 to 15, Peoria, Pe paying teller shapped it with other gold o our paymaster at Danville. The pay master did not know that "L" mean light weight and paid the miney out to the men. While bankers would charge a discount of from 25 to 50 cents on $10 and $20 pieces, the total discount on the package at the mint would probably not have been $15. As soon as the First National saw the telegram from Danville in The Tribune about the matter it telegraphed the banks at Danville to give fullweight gold in exchange for the other thenever it turned up and send the lightweight back. The error will be remedied as far as possible. But it was only an error, and a small one. - Chicago Tribune Ahrens & Damrow, Katie vs John. John Fagan, a coal miner, and Miss Katie Brannan, daughter of a widowhave been keeping company for over three years, and became too intimate in the eyes of the law. John concluded that a trip to Europe would be condu cive to his health, and Katie hearing of the projected journey divulged her sor row to Justice Curtis, who issued a state warrant for the arrest of fickle John on a charge of bastardy, Constable Weitsel had little trouble in finding Fagan. The situation was rather embarrassing for the prisoner, who lost no time in secking a acificatory interview with Katie and her nother. John resolved to escape imprisonment by marrying Katie, and, as she was willing, the case was dismissed on payment of the costs. The couple retused to be married by snybody except a priest and he was interviewed this morning. After learning the facts in the case the priest said he could not perform the coremony until the consent of Bishop Ryan was obtained. The permit will doubtless be granted and the couple will be made

What Constitutes Total Disability. Corporal Tanner, the commissioner of pensions, has rendered an important de cision on the application of John Webb, of Indiana, for an increase of pension from $24 to $30 per month. Webb is reesiving the former rate for varicose veins of the left leg and usked for the increase on the ground that total disability in the foot now exists. In granting the incremaasked for the commissioner anys in his opinion that it was not the intention of congress in using the words "total disa inhity" to debar claimants for pension rom the benefits of the act until the hand, foot, arm or leg is a worthless in-cumbrance. Do animals see ghosts! Of course there are no ghosts, but that makes no differ-Science and philosophy agree that it is not at all improbable that nothing really exists and that nothing is, except perturbations of brain cells Anything that we may think we see may not, after all, have any existence-at any rate, it does not exist as we see it Do animals know about ghosts and do they think they see them? In his latest book Sn John Lubbock undertakes to till how the would appears to animals, but he doesn t anter into the possibilities of superstitions among dogs and horses, for instance Certainly the world does not appear the sum to the ant that it does to man, and not quite the same to the dog or the horse, since the dog and the horse do not laugh If we take the conclusions of science re specting the development of the intelligence we ought to be able to believe that the more intelligent of the lower animals have superstitions that correspond in ome measure to the ve of the heast intel hgent human being-That many animals it ason, draw logical interences beyond the operation of instinct, is pretty well settled. When a dog or a horse has exhausted all its ex prince in attempting to account for certum phenomena does it conclude that the thing is supernatural or out of the order of explicable phenomena. Novel sets tell us about the amizing fear of dogs and horses of dinarily fearless when placed under conditions that excite the teat of superstitions persons. Are there facts to warrant this. If dogs and horses senghosts they must be capable of the simplest form of religious emotion, that is to say, the fear of the mexplicable, as the beginning of religion. Dogs have what in science passes for moral sense they are conscious of wring doing and practices if restraint Of course it all grows out of the experience that the do ing of certain things is itlended with more pala than the momentary pleasure, but this, science tells us, is the basis of the moral sense. At all events science is bound to admit the potentiality of superstitions in animals - Milwauke o

The Congregation Smiled

1 story that goes back to the meeting house in Wrentham is one of a worthy man maned Habbakuk P a resident of the town and a faithful attendant upon we tahip, who had been blessed with tom wives one liter another. Habbakuk was rigidly orthodox, as his name scemed to demand and was always in his pew on the Sabbath He sat there in his conspicuous pew with No 4 by his sale on the first Sunday after then marriage. It was a balmy June day, and the rephyrs from the open window toyed playfully with the bride s white satur bonnet ribons and the groom salken locks There was a stranger in the pulpit who had schanged for thoday with the venerable Mr I, the pastor of the church After realing a few Scripture passages the stranger proceeded to rend a notice which he had found in the Bible and which was as follows

Mi II abbakuk P — desmes the pray ers of the congregation that the death of his wife may be sanctified to him for his aparatual good

Then, when the congregation was be tween stupefaction and explosion, the lergyman went on with the services at a rapid rate. He was at a loss to know why the congregation scenied to be throughout the remainder of the service on the point of hughter, but at dinner Mrs 1 —, the pistor's wife, explained to him that Halbakuk P——sat three lows from the front in the broad aisle with his brand new wife, and he had read an old notice that Mr I'- had probably been using for a book mark ever since the death of wife No 3 -Bos on Transcript

Ha Verer Struck His Children

'I have never struck my two childien, said a young American father the other day, though I have often been tempted strongly to it, and sometimes would not have blamed any parent for doing so But I was thrushed so much by my own father, a good enough man, ioo, that Latways stood in fear of him seldom told him the truth if I could holp it and never confided in him. Often I was whipped for errors I had committed with good intentions, and I remonder the wild sprit of hatred that used to come over me at such times, when smarting under the blows I felt I did not discree, I would get away by investi and swen silent but bitter onthe that would have opened the old gentlemans ives to his telly parhaps, if he could have lained them from so young a child So I made a vow that I would never but my myn childr n. And now I feel sure that they do not stand in physical fear of me, I am pictly certain they tell me the truth, and I know they confide in me as a friend. And though they do not obey me nearly as implicity as I did my father, and make themselves muci more of a musamore to me than I was to him, yet they don't regard me as a bully and that is something "- New York

VIEWING THE TOWN.

Three Louisville Capitalists Pay Decatur a Visit.

Last night Benjamin Bayless, William . Barret and R. A. Robinson, jr., capitalists, of Louisville, Ky., arrived at the St. Nicholas hotel, guests of Manager E. J. Martin, of the Decatur Electric Railway company. The gentlemen breakfastor leisurely this morning, and afterwards in company with Mr Martin were driver about the city in a carriage to view the factories, the mines, the paved streets and other visible improvements. Their visit is purely one of business They have money to invest in any enterprise which will promise satisfactory re turns. They are very favorably impressed with Decatur, and freely contess that ou city is one of the most inviting points : the West for safe investments.

They are not yet willing to make any contive statements as to their plans. Centennial Celebration.

There will be a union service of all the vangeheal churches in Decatar to ap proprietely commemorate the centennia of Washington's inauguration as presi dent. At a meeting of the ministers held recently the following programme was decided upon, the services to be held in the First Baptist church at 10:30 a.m. on April 30th, and the singing to be by the choir of the Baptist church:

A Quick Trip.

The Wabash fruit train out of St. Louis last evening made a lightning journey to Decatur, covering the 108 miles in two hours and forty minutes. Geo. W. Ehrhart, who had been in St. Louis buying fruit, was invited to ride up in the train He did so, taking a seat on the ongine. George said it was the quickest trip he ever made from St. Louis.

Bought a Rig. Mrs. James Hollinger, wife of the procive to his health, and Katie hearing of the projected journey divulged her sor

The Pensed was Eddio Cam, son of Bridget Umn, and the complanment was Mrs. Bell, mother of Damel Bell, assulted by Eddie with a brick. The parties reside near the corner of Hickory and Calhoun stroots in the fifth ward. Mrs. Bell is of German extraction and Mrs. Cain has the rich Irish brogue. The witnesses told n story of bickerings, stone throwing and treament quarrols among the children, enturnating in the row of yesterday, when Officer Butta awooped down on Eddin and brought him into court. Mr. Mills gave free rom to remarks by all the parties implicated and concluded that all were to blame. This view was enterturned by Squire Curtie, who gave the two families a judicial lecture and told est popular successes of the season. Sethem to go home and behave themselves. The court room was tilled with annused listeners. The Justice said he would not ussess a fine, if he did he would have to fine the whole bouse, this statement causing a decided sensation as there was but one party under arrest. By a clorical error at the First National Bank (of Chicago) a package of gold con-taining $1,000 or $2,000 -- we don't know tember 9 to 15, Logan, Atlanta, September 5 to 6; Ford, Piper City, September 10 to 13, Piper City, September to the paying teller instead of being sent to the Government Mint. The wrapper of the puckage was not marked to indicate the light weight of the coin, and the paying teller shipped it with other gold to our paymaster at Danville. The paymaster did not know that "L" meant light weight and paid the money out to the men. While bankers would charge the men. While bankers would charge a discount of from 25 to 50 cents on $10 and $20 pieces, the total discount on the package at the mnt would probably not have been $15. As soon as the First National saw the telegram from Danville. National saw the telegram to Danville in The Tribine about the matter it telegraphed the banks at Danville to give full-weight gold in exchange for the other whenever it turned up and send the lighteight back. Do animals see ghosts! Of course there are no ghosts, but that makes no differ-

Science and philosophy agree that it is not at all improbable that nothing really exists and that nothing is, except perturbations of brain cells Anything that we may think we see may not, after all, have any existence—at any rate, it does not exist as we see it Do animals know about ghosts and do they think they see them? In his latest book Su John Lubbock undertakes to tell how the world appears to animals, but he doesn t inter into the possibilities of superstitions among dogs and horses, for instance Certainly the world does not appear the s une to the ant that it does to man, and not quite the same to the dos or the horse, since the dog and the horse do not laugh It we take the conclusions of science re specting the development of the intelligence we ought to be able to believe that the more intelligent of the lower animals have superstitions that correspond in ome measure to the ve of the least intel ligent human beings That many annuals reason, draw logu al inferences beyond the operation of in stinct, is pictly well settled. When a dog er a horse has exhausted all its ex persone in attempting to account I's certain phenomena does it conclude that the thing is supernatural or out of the order of explicable phenomena. Novel 14th tell us about the am lying fear of dogs and horses o dinarily fearless when placed under conditions that excite the ten of superstitions persons. Are there facts to warrant this. If dogs and horses sco ghosts they must be capable of the simplest form of rebgious emotion, that is to say, the fear of the mexplicable, what in sounce passes for moral sense They are conscious of wring doing and mactice s if restraint Of course it all grows out of the experience that the do ing of certain things is attended with more pain than the momentary pleasure, but this, science tells us, is the basis of the moral sense. At all events science is bound to admit the potentiality of superstitions in animals - Milwaukee

I story that good back to the meeting nouse in Wientham is one of a worthy man maned Habbakuk P a resident of the town and a faithful attendant upon weighip, who had been blessed with four wives one ifter another. Habbakuk was rigidly orthodox, as his name scemed to demand and was always in his pew on the Sabbath He sat there in his con spicuous pew with No 4 by his side on the first Sunday after then marriage. It was a balmy June day, and the rephyrs from the open window toyed playfully with the bride s white satin bounct rib-bons and the groom s silken locks. There was a stranger in the pulpit who had xchanged for tho day with the venerable MI I, the paster of the church After reading a few Scripture passages the stranger proceeded to read a notice which he had found in the Bible and which Ma Habbakuk P --- desires the pray
